

CRANBROOK DONOR HONOR ROLL
2016-17

CRANBROOK

Leadership in education involves creating a path for others to learn, explore, challenge assumptions, and better their lives. At Cranbrook, one of the world's leading centers of education, science, and art, these transformations have been happening for more than a century.

Cranbrook leads through the rich and unique experiences it offers learners and visitors of all ages and backgrounds. By inspiring students, visitors, faculty, and staff to learn on and off our extraordinary campus, Cranbrook demonstrates that innovation, new ways of teaching, and the interplay among art, science, and education can trigger new ways of thinking and change our world for the better. Cranbrook leads by taking the best of the past, blending it with new ideas and emerging technologies for learning and teaching, and creating exciting new ways of enhancing our world inside and outside our campus. The ways in which we lead have always been at the core of Cranbrook and help make it the exceptional cultural institution that it is today.

Our leadership is, of course, driven by the people, places, and programs who make up the Community. Students, educators, artists, scientists, staff, volunteers, and visitors experiment and apply what they learn in ways that have a profoundly positive effect on their own lives and those of others.

None of this would be possible without our benefactors who, through their generosity, ensure that Cranbrook remains the vibrant place that it is. Please accept my sincere thanks for your continued and unwavering support. You truly make a difference and help make all of us, and greater Cranbrook, a better and even more special place.

Bruce D. Peterson
Chair, Board of Trustees

Leadership requires vision and a willingness to think and act differently. Few couples embraced this concept better than George and Ellen Scripps Booth, founders of the Cranbrook Educational Community, more than 100 years ago. Their forward-thinking vision for Cranbrook has been integral to everything that we do, and today, by continuing to foster new approaches to art, education, and science, Cranbrook lives up to its past while simultaneously charting a promising future.

In our mission, Cranbrook makes a commitment to provide an extraordinary education, encourage creativity and innovation, and value learners of all ages and backgrounds. We continually seek to develop people who will live with purpose and integrity, create with passion, explore with curiosity, and strive for excellence.

This deep commitment reflects the qualities of leadership upon which our Community was founded and on which it has flourished, both in the past and today.

Today, you, Cranbrook's donors, are the leaders who, through your generosity and trust, sustain our Community's historic vision and mission. As stewards of the Cranbrook endeavor, we are committed to securing and strengthening Cranbrook for the benefit and enjoyment of future generations.

On behalf of all of us at Cranbrook, I thank you for all that you do to support the extraordinary legacy with which we've been entrusted. None of this would be possible without each of you and your continued support and friendship.

Dominic A. DiMarco
President

CRANBROOK CUMULATIVE GIVING SOCIETIES

Cranbrook's Cumulative Giving Societies, including the Founder's Society which recognizes cumulative giving of more than $1 million, honors Cranbrook's founding families and the donors who are following in their footsteps with their generous support of this Community. The following pages provide insight and background into each giving level and also list those individuals who make up the 2016-17 class of the Founder's Society as well as the dozens of other supporters who have given to Cranbrook over the years.

BOOTH • $10,000,000

George Gough Booth and Ellen Scripps Booth
Maxine and Stuart Frankel

George and Ellen Booth founded Cranbrook in 1904 and guided its growth into one of the world's leading centers for education, science and art. The idea for Cranbrook arose, in part, from their belief that beauty was essential to life and could inspire great thinking and creativity. That belief still inspires the Cranbrook vision today.

SCRIPPS • $7,500,000

Susan Flint Cooper K'58

Ellen Booth's family, the Scripps, were leaders in the newspaper publishing industry at the turn of the 20th century. The Scripps family was the foundation upon which many of Cranbrook's early successes were built.

Think of a great leader you know or admire. Young or older, female or male, from education, industry, technology, politics, religion or a myriad of other walks of life.

What do all of them have in common? They care. They care about ideas, people, places, causes, and typically, they care about others. Hand-in-hand with that sense of caring is a commitment to giving. In other words, leaders are investors. They invest their time, energy, passion and their treasure in something in which they truly care about.

In this spirit, each of you is a leader at Cranbrook. Although your personal area of interest may focus on the Schools, the Art Academy and Museum, or perhaps the Institute of Science, the House and Gardens, the Center for Collections and Research or Cranbrook’s Horizons-Upward Bound program, your support of Cranbrook makes you both a leader and investor in this special Community that you care about. Thank you so very much.

While there have been many extraordinary gifts to Cranbrook over our more than century-long history, each and every gift is important and appreciated. From transformational gifts that help build new facilities and create new programs to annual fund gifts and memberships that impact the quality of experience we can provide every day, each gift to our Community makes a difference and represents an investment in our collective future.

Your support and investment in Cranbrook impacts the tens of thousands of people of all ages and backgrounds that experience Cranbrook in some way each year. From the students at our Schools to the graduate students at the Academy of Art to guests who visit Cranbrook’s Museums and other public venues, each gift has a tangible effect on the ways in which Cranbrook impacts and transforms the lives of those we touch in some way. It could be a student at the Schools who gains new insight from exposure to new technologies or a child undergoing cancer treatment who visits the Institute privately with their family, each gift to Cranbrook makes an experience possible that was not possible before.

Finally, the best leadership is honest and transparent. Each of you support Cranbrook with a specific intention and we commit that your intentions for giving will always be honored and your gifts used as you have determined. Simply put again, we promise to be good stewards of your generosity regardless of the scale of your gift.

On behalf of the entire Advancement team at Cranbrook, thank you so very much for being a leader and investor in our extraordinary community—its people, programs and places. With your continued support and friendship, anything is possible.

With sincere thanks,

Eileen F. Savage
Chief Advancement Officer

Creating art and design is an act of leadership. For decades, Cranbrook Academy of Art students and Artists-in-Residence have led changes in the way we live through innovations in art, architecture, and design.

Each time a student takes a familiar medium and reworks it into a new form, they are leading us to new expectations, perceptions, and understanding in our daily lives. The creation of an object, the invention of a new typeface, putting brush to paper, the design of buildings, and other creative acts, result not only in visual markers of specific moments or times but also allow us to better discover and embrace change.

Through exhibitions and programming at Cranbrook Art Museum we lead our visitors to a deeper understanding of modern and contemporary art, architecture, and design, and how objects and experiences impact their whole beings. Offering direct interaction with art, architecture, and design allows us to experience the myriad of ways in which art changes how humans think, work, dream, create, and play. Together, Cranbrook Academy of Art and Art Museum stand as a powerhouse in leading change in the world through art, architecture, and design.

Thank you for helping us to lead that change through your gifts. We appreciate your continued support.

Leadership and the scientific process have much in common. Both require curiosity, enthusiasm, perseverance, and a commitment to the common good. There's also a good deal of trial and error that is an integral part of success.

As leaders in science education in our region, the Institute of Science is proud to enlighten, amaze, and stimulate our audiences to better understand the natural and cultural worlds in which we all live. As supporters of the work we do, you help lead the charge in inspiring the generations of scientists who will create, define and enhance our current and future worlds.

Whether it's engineers who develop new energy sources, scientists who develop exciting new approaches to medicine and health, or anthropologists who help us better understand and prepare for our future by understanding past and current peoples and cultures, all contribute to creating a better world for us all.

We take on the role of teaching science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) on your behalf and could not do it without you. As the Director of the Institute, please accept my personal thanks for the part each of you play in supporting our mission, many initiatives, and the difference we make each day in the lives of the diverse audiences we serve.

Leadership is one of the real defining qualities of the Cranbrook Schools experience, as evidenced by the achievements of our student body and alumni community. This is no accident. Throughout our history, and particularly this past year, we have seen stand-out examples of leadership among our faculty and staff, who are committed to modeling the qualities and values that we aspire to cultivate in our students.

Both the faculty and administrative staff at Cranbrook Schools represent us well on some of the most esteemed national boards in the independent school community, helping solidify our place as a leader in K-12 education.

The rigor of the ten-month search for the next Director of Schools and ultimate appointment of Aime Claire Roche is a similar reflection of leadership. The Search Committee maintained the highest standards of excellence in planning and in practice, which sets the stage for an effective and meaningful transition.

In the meantime, some of the most storied leaders at Cranbrook Schools have decided to retire after making a difference in many lives over many years. Please join me in acknowledging Tom Burgess, Sharon Peacock, and Claudia Schuette as they complete their final year at Cranbrook Schools.

I remain grateful to all of our partners in leadership, including those who give of their time and resources to advance our mission. Thank you for all that you do to support Cranbrook Schools.

Arlyce M. Seibert
Director, Cranbrook Schools

The Horizons-Upward Bound (HUB) program at Cranbrook was founded by Ben Snyder who, more than 50 years ago, demonstrated the leadership and vision necessary to create something unique at Cranbrook. Like the best leaders, he saw a need and developed a solution. Along the way, he inspired many with his dedication and commitment to the students in the program.

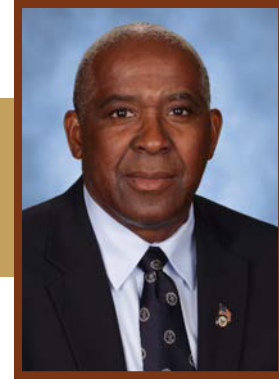

HUB builds leaders and last spring we hosted an off-site weekend Leadership Conference for 100 of our students. Members of HUB's Advisory Board and HUB alumni spoke on the many facets of leadership, using the now classic book, The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership, by John C. Maxwell, as our conference framework and the students' text. The students were very engaged in this special learning opportunity and took away important lessons on the "laws" of leadership and how those can work in their lives.

As the Director of the Horizons-Upward Bound program at Cranbrook, and as a HUB graduate, I want to thank you for making this program strong through your partnership. The skills I acquired at Cranbrook have served me well both personally and professionally, and to be able to share that experience with our HUB students today is truly an honor.

Leading HUB into the future is a privilege I share with each and every one of our supporters. Thank you for leading with me.

Dr. Darryl L. Taylor
Director, Horizons Upward Bound

At the Center for Collections and Research, we lead visitors, scholars, and Community members to a new understanding of Cranbrook. By first sustaining and then sharing our diverse collections—including archival materials, architectural and landscape resources, and our campus-wide collection of Cultural Properties—we foster a better understanding of Cranbrook and its influence regionally, nationally, and internationally.

Think of us as Cranbrook’s storytellers. Whether is it leading visitors through the Frank Lloyd Wright Smith House and discussing the friendly rivalry between Wright and his friend at Cranbrook, Eliel Saarinen, or facilitating a day-long conversation about the many connections among the Institute’s Tutankhamun exhibition and the landmarks of Detroit that reflect the “Egyptomania” spurred by the discovery of King Tut’s tomb in the 1920s, we shape and share the narratives that unite all aspects of Cranbrook’s 113-year history and its contemporary programs.

Your support makes these connections possible. Thank you for helping us preserve and expand the understanding of Cranbrook’s place in art, science, and education.

 Director, Cranbrook Center for Collections and Research

Cranbrook was founded on a model that, had the word been in use at the time, could have been described as “sustainable.” It was a model that was visionary for the era.

Today, we are continuing that model by leading the way to advance a Community that both preserves and rejuvenates the historic while creating a more sustainable environment to guarantee Cranbrook’s future preservation. Our plan takes many forms—from implementing greener efficiencies in our landmark buildings to planning new building projects to meet and exceed the latest standards.

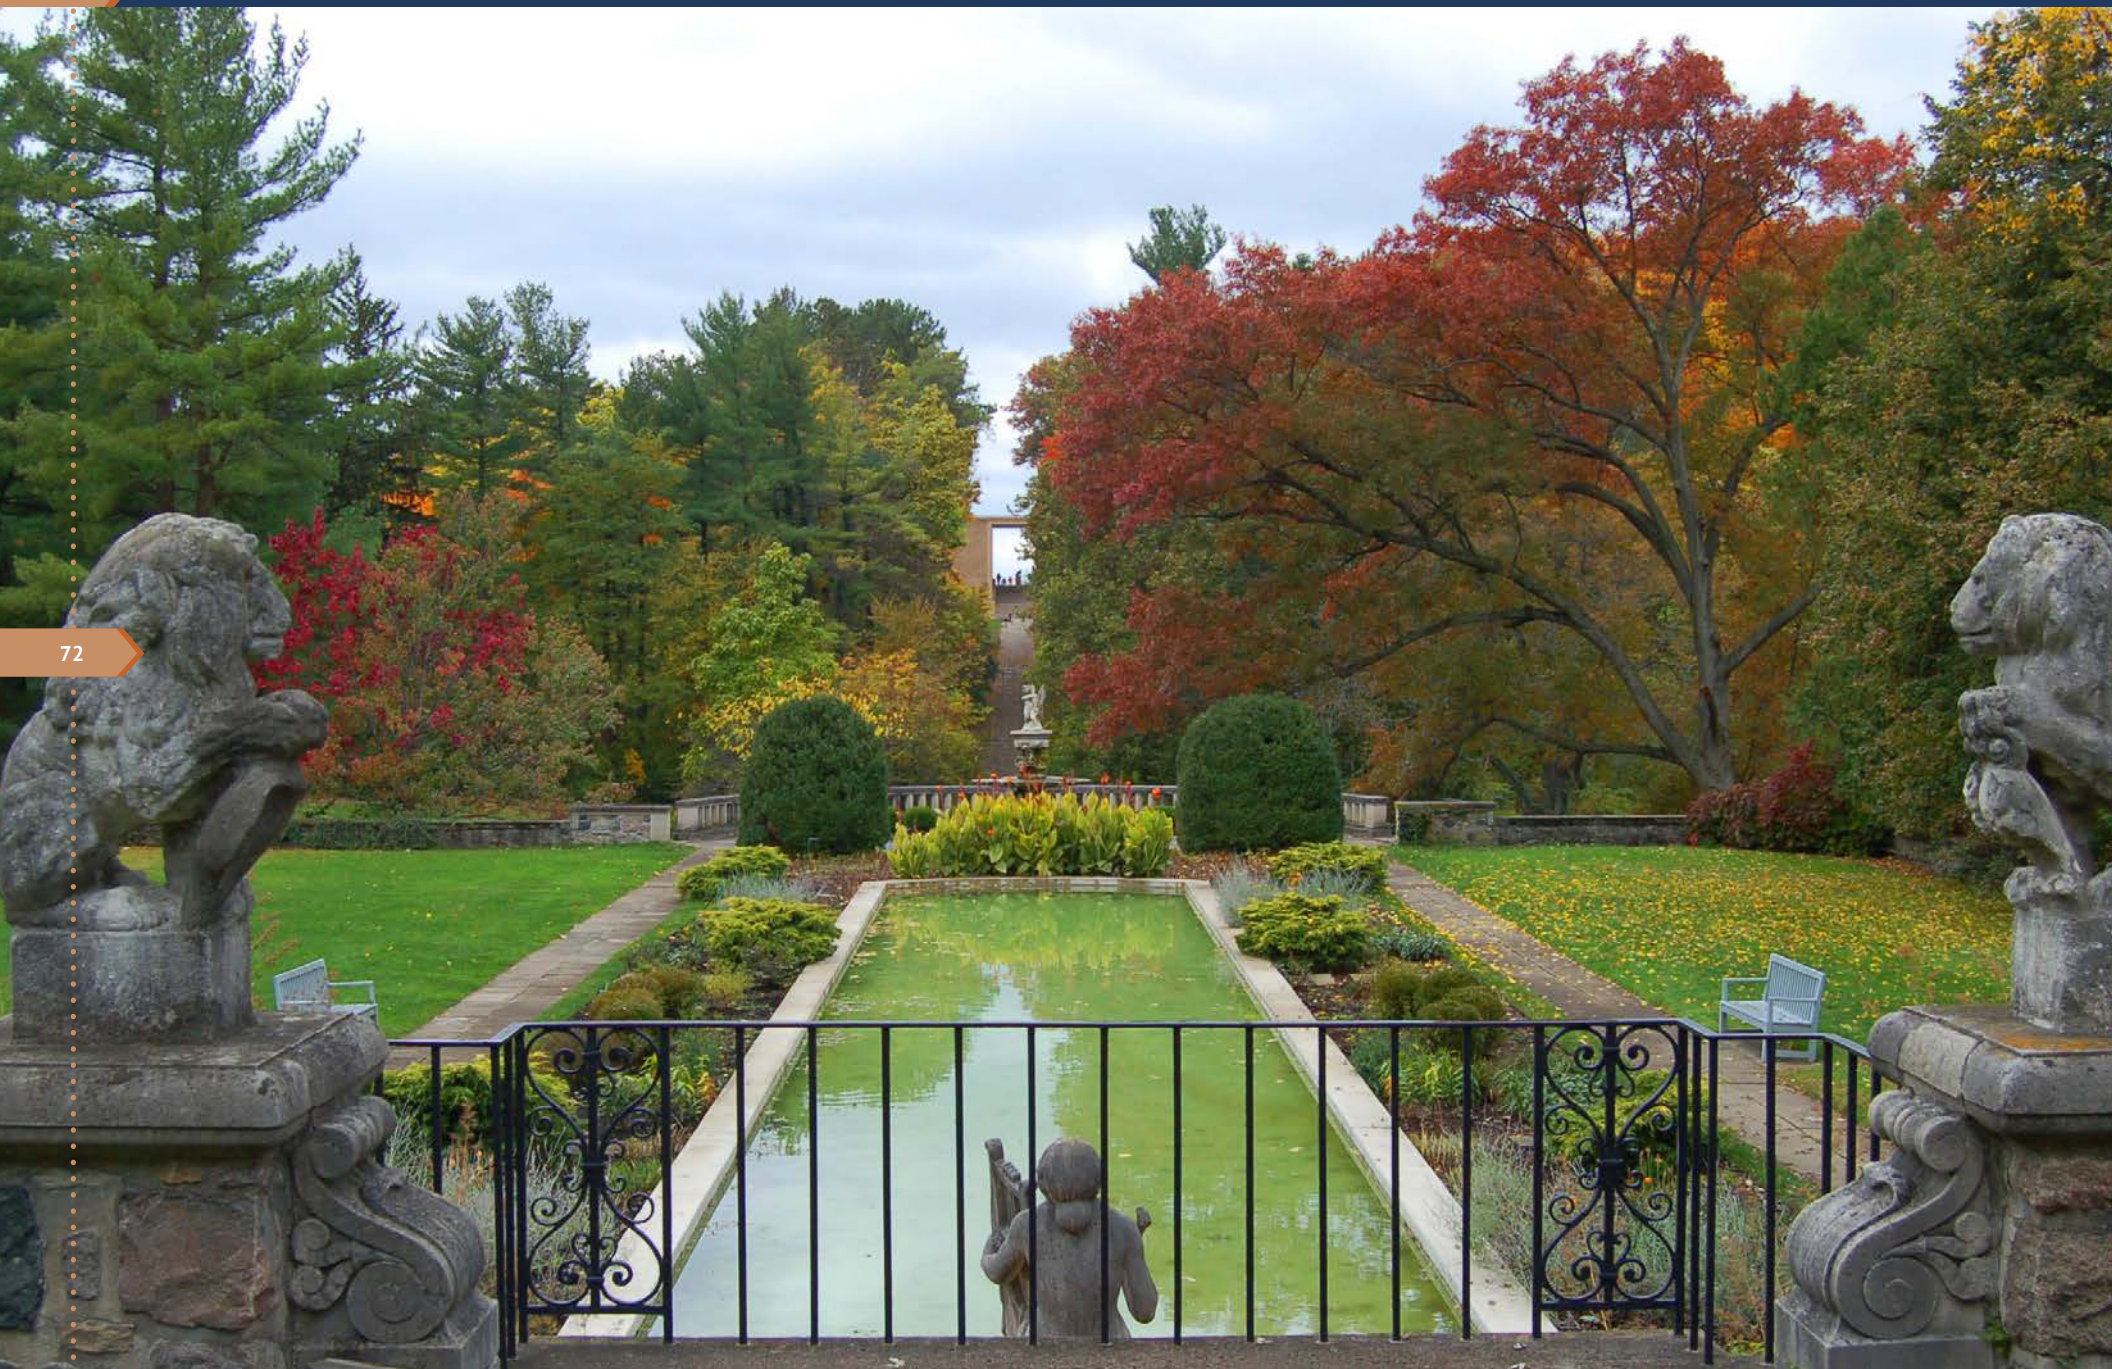

We are also taking a leading role in revitalizing our landscape, something as integral to Cranbrook as its buildings. After more than 100 years many trees on campus are coming to the end of their lifecycles. We will work to replace them in the most ecologically sound way without detracting from the beauty of the campus. Similarly, invasive plants which have taken root in some areas on campus are being eradicated to help restore the original vision and function of the Community.

Your gifts are critical to the continuing revitalization of Cranbrook and will inspire future generations to strive to continue to enhance and preserve our beautiful and historic campus. Thank you for your support.

A photograph of the entrance to the Cranbrook Educational Community building. The entrance features a large, arched doorway with a dark wooden door and a decorative metal knocker. The archway is framed by light-colored stone or concrete. To the left of the doorway are three tall, narrow windows with dark frames. To the right is a red brick wall with a small window featuring a diamond-patterned leaded glass. Two ornate, lantern-style light fixtures are mounted on the wall, one on each side of the doorway. Two large, carved stone planters filled with green plants and purple flowers sit on the brick-paved walkway leading to the entrance. The foreground shows a brick and stone patterned walkway. The background is slightly blurred, showing more of the building and some greenery.
