Families recovering from tornado strike; tribe engaged in cleanup

The Chickasaw Nation came out in full force to help with clean up and recovery following the February tornado that decimated Lone Grove, Oklahoma.

Tribal Lighthorse Police responded immediately following reports of the EF4 tornado, which ripped through the Carter County community Tuesday, Feb. 11. The deadly tornado claimed the lives of eight Lone Grove residents.

A total of 13 officers assisted in the two-day search and recovery efforts, said Chickasaw Nation Lighthorse Police Chief Jason O'Neal.

"Our office dispatched law enforcement officers to assist, along with four-wheel drive SUVs, four-wheel drive mules, and a thermal heat vision camera," Chief O'Neal said. "We assisted with patrolling, search and rescue, and physical security of critical assets, including the Lone Grove post office."

Officers stayed on scene until 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Chickasaw Nation Facilities and Support Division and Career Development Initiative program (CDI) staff members used tribal resources to help tornado victims recover some of their possessions and clean up the area.

In a nine-day period, the Ardmore CDI program contributed 196 man hours in the clean up efforts.

"We have had as many as three chain saw crews assisted by a tractor working at any given time during the past week and a half," said Rick Cravatt, CDI Ardmore site coordinator. "We combed through rubble and recovered valuables."

While working, one CDI crew member, Matthew Wells, found a bag filled with 10- and 20-dollar bills.

"He turned it over to his crew leader and the money was turned into the command center," Cravatt said. "I believe it was returned to an elder lady in the area."

A Chickasaw Nation utility trailer was utilized to assist residents with moving salvaged items to storage units and homes.

"All of these efforts have been for the community of Lone Grove," said Cravatt.

The Chickasaw Nation Ardmore senior site brought food to help feed rescue workers and also opened their doors to storm victims.

Donation drives and fund raisers for Carter County tornado victims were conducted throughout the Chickasaw Na-

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE REPORT by Committee Chair Steve Woods
No report.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT by Committee Chair Holly Easterling

General Resolution Number 26-013, Approval of Development Budget Amendment, Artesian Hotel

The site where the Artesian Hotel was located is also the site of the Chickasaw Nation's first business. After the 1962 fire another hotel was built but fell into foreclosure. The Chickasaw Nation bought the hotel land in 1972 and built the Chickasaw Motor Inn, which had a modern appeal but lacked the historical beauty of the original Artesian.

The town of Sulphur has not had a destination type of hotel since the Artesian. Currently, there is no adequate facility to host the type of functions that were once held there. In addition to returning some of the glory to downtown Sulphur and providing a much needed venue, the new hotel will be a natural complement to the Chickasaw Cultural Center. Guests who visit the Cultural Center could extend their cultural and historic experience by staying in a hotel which evokes memories of the glory days the area enjoyed during early statehood.

This resolution approves the amendment to the Development Budget for the Artesian Hotel, Project Number 20-0081-08 in the amount of $21,912,196.00.

A motion was made by Mr. Tim Colbert and seconded by Ms. Wanda Blackwood Scott to approve GR26-013.

General Resolution Number 26-012, Approval of Application for Funding Family Violence Prevention and Services

This resolution approves the Chickasaw Nation's application for federal funding to the Administration for Children and Families for the continuation of the Family Violence Prevention and Services project. Funds from the grant will be used to assist clients with relocating costs associated with leaving an abusive situation. This can include assistance with housing rental costs and deposit plus utility deposits for housing, household items, bedding, beds, dinettes, kitchen items, clothing, transportation tickets to locate services or employment and groceries. It will also provide crises counseling, safety planning and education regarding domestic violence, assistance with protective orders and facilitate a weekly support group, "Spirit Circle." Many referrals are made to tribal and non-tribal agencies to assist with emergency shelter, legal and other needs. This grant serves Native America and non-Native American victims.

A motion was made by Mr. Woerz and seconded by Ms. Wanda Blackwood Scott to approve GR26-012.

General Resolution Number 26-014, Approval of Application for Funding National Park Service Grant

This resolution approves the Chickasaw Nation's application for federal funding to the National Park Service to start up a program to preserve and document the oral history of Chickasaw citizens who are direct descendants of people buried in various cemeteries documented by the Chickasaw Cemetery Archives Project team. The interviews will be edited and made available, upon request, to the public for viewing. The public will be made aware of the edited interviews through brochures. American, tribal issues now finding common ground

By BILL ANOATUBBY
Governor
Chickasaw Nation

The United States is coming around to the issues that are of vital importance to all Americans.

The U.S. budget recently submitted to the U.S. Congress by the President puts emphasis on health care and education.

For Chickasaws, it is good to know we have been working hard to improve our education and health care services for many years. In response to citizen requests, we have vastly expanded and improved our programs in these areas so important to our citizens.

In education, we have devoted millions of dollars and a tremendous amount of human resources to drive wide access, excellence and positive results.

For our traditional college students, there exist voluminous opportunities for monetary and other assistance. Our tribe offers scholarships and grants to not only high-achieving students, but also those who are newly embarking on their college careers. We desire that all our students succeed, and the programs are in place to help our college students receive their bachelor's and advanced degrees.

The Chickasaw Nation offers tutoring, GED instruction, vocational-technical school assistance, clothing grants, curriculum, entrepreneurship training, internships and much, much more. We are completely committed to education for our people because we know it leads to good jobs, fulfilling lives and happy Chickasaw families.

It is truly amazing to meet the scores and scores of Chickasaws who have utilized the tribe's programs to earn college degrees, and other educational degrees and certifications. The number of Chickasaws with advanced education and training is growing exponentially. This is providing excellent job choice, fulfilling careers and happy Chickasaw families.

We are building a very solid foundation for our tribal future through our students' academic success.

In 1994, when we compacted to provide Indian health care in our local IHS service unit, we were responding to calls from citizens who consistently ranked health care the number one priority. We knew Chickasaws wanted and needed not just more health care, but health care that was more wide-ranging and responsive to their needs.

This effort has required a substantial dedication of resources, and it is an investment that is paying huge dividends to the people.

We have, over the past 14 years, built a tribal health system that cares for almost 1,000 people each and every day. We have built programs that are in response to the needs of the people. From the Diabetes Care Center to our state-of-the-art pharmacy services to our specialty clinics, we have worked to put in place the highest quality programs and professionals to serve you.

Our tribe is a leader in Indian health care. The commitment to build the new Chickasaw Nation Health System health care facility in Ada is remarkable, not for its size, but for the services and access it will offer Chickasaws and other Indian patients. We are building the facility because it is the right thing to do for the people's health care needs.

Our new facility will be filled with equipment, professionals and processes dedicated to health care excellence.

We are fortunate at the Chickasaw Nation to be far along the road to success in quality education and health care programs.

From dispatch to patrol officer, officer enjoys Lighthouse duties

While growing up in Ada, D. Michael Holloway had a strong interest in law enforcement. When a dispatcher position with the Chickasaw Nation Lighthouse Police opened in 2004, he seized the opportunity.

Fast forward about four years and Holloway can now be found in a patrol car working as one of the newest Lighthouse officers.

"I am the rookie around here," he said.

Many people who work with the Chickasaw Nation recognize his name. That's because as a dispatcher, he would email inclement weather updates.

He enjoyed working as a dispatcher but says taking the step to be a police officer was the right choice for him.

Since becoming a commissioned officer this year, Holloway is now experiencing law enforcement from a different perspective. He intends to further his knowledge and career. He aspires to join the LHP SWAT and dive teams and has plans to work as an investigator.

During his four years at LHP, Holloway completed a wide variety of training, from hostage negotiations to taser training.

He is one of the only dispatchers in the state to complete the basic telecommunications operator training at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Artesia, N.M. He has had extensive computer software training, and maintains an Oklahoma Law Enforcement Telephone Support certification.

Michael Holloway

His most recent accomplishment was completion of Council on Law Enforcement Education and Training (CLEET) courses in January 2009.

"I started out with no knowledge, I just knew I wanted to be in law enforcement," he said.

Although he has never worked anywhere but Lighthouse Police, he says he knows he is with the best agency.

He describes working with other Lighthouse officers as "family life."

"Everyone treats you like family," he said. "If you need something they are willing to help. And when you take the initiative for additional training they back you up."

A citizen of the Citizen Potawatamie tribe, Holloway was "born and raised" in Ada and graduated from Ada High School.

His interests are varied. He is a third-degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do, thanks in part to a family-owned martial arts studio in Ada.

"Ever since I could walk I have been doing Tae Kwon Do," he said Martial arts competition has taken him from Seattle to Puerto Rico. He had won five state, two regional championship titles and first and second place at an international competition.

When not working, Holloway and his wife Ashlee are busy with their two sons, one-year-old Bradon and three-year-old Braxton.

Miss Chickasaw Carla Lane, right, and Junior Miss Chickasaw Julie Underwood are joined by Princess Coordinator Toni Castleberry during the Leadership Oklahoma banquet Feb. 21 in Tulsa. The Chickasaw royalty signed the Lord's Prayer prior to the evening meal. Little Miss Chickasaw Chelsea Wedlow was not in attendance due to the lateness of the evening affair. Gov. Anoatubby was honored as a Leadership Oklahoma Distinguished Graduate.

Devastating tornado followed by calls to action

Linda Briggs
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Hi, Everybody!

Spring teases and then Winter flexes his muscles again and back we go to winter's weather. The large range in temperatures may be one of the reasons for the devastating tornado which hit my town's neighbor to the northwest just about 20 miles.

Eight people were killed and about half of the town was blown away. I am of course speaking of Lone Grove, Oklahoma just west of Ardmore. As a matter of fact, the same highway that is Ardmore's main street is Lone Grove's main street. The night of the storm I was in a City Council meeting here in Marietta when at the same moment the administrator of our local hospital who is on our council, the Chief of Police, the Fire Chief and the Director of Emergency Operations all stood up at the same time. They had all been watching their radios on silent transmission when the word of the tornado came. The immediate response was nothing short of awesome. We sent a firetruck, six firemen, a police car and two officers to the scene immediately and the others went to their command centers for emergencies to our own community. There are more "unsung" heroes out there than could be counted. Our own Lighthouse Police also went into immediate action and went to Lone Grove to help, as did many from our area.

Earlier this week I had the great pleasure of visiting with my aunt from Houston. She has a second home on the allotment land received from her mother, my full-blood grandmother, and her house is located just up the hill from our family park, endowed by my visionary grandmother for her descendants. My aunt was a student at Bloomfield, so precious to our Chickasaw heritage and she is one of the former students interviewed and written about by Dr. Amanda Cobb-Greetham in her book on Bloomfield (which I believe was her doctoral thesis). Always it is such a treat to see my Aunt Jeanne and hear all the stories she has to tell. She is a very young "eighty-ish" and having received some great genes I believe we will have the extraordinary pleasure of her company for years to come!!

Speaking of Bloomfield reminds me of Burney Institute. No work has actually begun at the location but cleaning and clearing has occurred and the cemetery is being restored as well as it can be at this stage. Efforts are being made to locate unmarked graves and that is an interesting process. The first consultation concerning the restoration of the brick buildings was to carefully dismantle the building, marking all the bricks, etc. The recommendation was emphatically denied by the Governor (I understand) and an effort is being made to find a restorer of historic buildings by other methods (scaffolding, new supports, etc.) so we were glad for that development and shared opinion.

One of the great pleasures of representing you as one of your legislators is getting to hear from you. Sometimes it is just to give you information you may need but sometimes we get to hear your ideas. We have a citizen from Sun City, Arizona who calls and he has so many interesting ideas he really needs to move back into the Nation. (You should start packing, Mr. Orr!).

I wish all of you safety as you go about your business and as you live your lives and for all of you, God's blessings.

Five hours - worth the time to stand up for tribal diabetes funding in Oklahoma

Dr. Judy Goforth Parker
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

I know that you will agree with me that communication is one of the most vital things we do. Communication brings important information to us that can be life changing. Recently, the Tribal Leaders Diabetes Committee met in California. I was unable to attend, but I did manage to attend by way of a conference call. I had the opportunity to vote for Oklahoma and the 39 tribes I have the honor of representing. That conference call lasted more than five hours.

Communication was key to my ability to vote for important recommendations that will be forwarded to Mr. Bob McSwain, Indian Health Service director. Five hours. Five important hours.

Communication. I also think about the messages that we communicate to each other. Communication requires that we share with each other. Share with our children, loved ones, families, and those with whom we interact on a daily basis. I find that communication with you through this writing is a very important process. I extend that communication by also updating my blog from time to time. This month, I would invite you to visit me at www.goforthparker.com <<http://www.goforthparker.com>>. There will be updates to the new hospital. We are more than 50 percent finished.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Consolidated Governmental Budget for upcoming fiscal year well under way

Holly Easterling
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Although we haven't even reached the half-way mark in the current fiscal year, the Chickasaw Nation Executive branch is hard at work gathering data and making projections for the "new" budget. Preliminary figures are already being calculated for the Consolidated Governmental Budget for fiscal year 2010.

The budget process is a complex and comprehensive undertaking and spans over six months from beginning to end. The Office of Management and Budget is responsible for working with our various divisions, departments, commissions and programs in collecting, assisting with and processing the needs for the coming year. A preliminary budget is then formulated for Governor Anoatubby. The finalized version of that budget is completed toward the end of April. The Executive Department then presents the budget to the Legislature in mid-May of each year with Governor Anoatubby and the Administrators from each division present for questions and answers.

Once this has been completed, the Finance Committee may formulate additional inquiries or justification requests after the committee has met again. A public budget hearing is held in June for interested Chickasaw citizens who wish to participate in the budgeting process and this also may generate additional inquiries to the Executive Branch.

The Consolidated Governmental Budget is usually put on the agenda for approval in July or August, well ahead of the beginning of the new fiscal year which starts in October. Once the budget for the new year has been approved, it is rare that it would be amended. For many years, the Chickasaw Nation has operated well within the parameters of its approved budget. I think that speaks well of the diligent efforts of all those involved in working and reworking the budget to produce an authentic blueprint for tribal operations. This year's approved budget was an unprecedented $101,656,000.

Hospital now about one-half complete and on schedule

Mary Jo Green
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Hello and greetings from Legislator Mary Jo Green, Seat 5, Pontotoc District and Committee Chair of the Health Care Committee! It's beginning to feel like Spring in Ada, and we are sure ready for warmer weather!

The Committee met with several important people this month. Administrator Bill Lance and Deputy Administrator Lisa Bumpus were in attendance and told us that the new hospital is about 50% complete and on schedule. When completed, the new hospital will be the largest Indian health facility in the United States.

They also asked the Legislature to approve a developmental budget amendment for upgrades to the Ardmore Clinic. We approved the resolution on February 20. The upgrades will enable the Health System to efficiently serve more people in that Clinic. The old Carter Seminary dormitories will also be torn down to provide space for apartments for senior citizens. The new apartments will replace those we are losing by tearing down the Washington Square apartment building. The Carter gymnasium will remain, however, and utilized as a community center.

Good news regarding the prescription refill center in Ada. It is now open 7 days a week instead of 5 and a half. This schedule will provide more user friendly hours of business.

Also at the Committee meeting, we met the Elder Case Manager for the Health System, Lori Dodson. Lori is able to assist senior citizens living within the Chickasaw Nation and can be reached at 580.272.5813. Amy Wampler is the Services At Large Case Manager for Chickasaw citizens living outside the Chickasaw Nation. Amy is located in Oklahoma City and can be reached at 405.767.8976.

Administrator Bill Lance provided the following statistics: for the month of January, 2009, there were 234 hospitalizations at Carl Albert Indian Health Facility. The number of outpatient visits at Carl Albert was 20,063. January Emergency Room visits were 1,050. January saw 261 surgeries and the Same-day Clinic saw 2,786 patients.

The Family Practice Clinic in Ada saw 1,766 patients in January. The Ardmore Clinic saw 2,946 patients and the Tishomingo Clinic saw 1,914. The Durant Clinic saw 2,591 patients and the Purcell Clinic saw 1,996 in January.

I would love to hear from you! Please contact me through my email address mary.green@chickasaw.net or through the address and telephone number listed elsewhere in this and every issue of the Chickasaw Times and on the Chickasaw Nation web site. My articles are also located on the web site.

Until next month, thank you.

New Health System case workers available to assist you

Katie Case
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Hello Everyone,
Here in Oklahoma, the recent warm weather has heightened our anticipation of Spring, the season that illustrates new beginnings and hope.

Only time will tell if the current actions and direction are successful, but the mere fact that our newly elected US Government officials are active in addressing the current economic crisis is heartening and reason for hope.

Hope, among other things, is the basis for favorable possibilities and a strong future. Let us all join together in hope and the focusing of our collective actions on a favorable future.

On a day-to-day basis, we need to focus attention on leveraging every possible asset in order to make every dollar that passes through our hands go as far as possible.

Our Chickasaw citizenship is a great asset.

Two newly created positions within the Chickasaw Nation Health System can and are aiding in the effort to save dollars by making the most use of our health system. Lori Dodson, RN, the new Elder Case Manager and Amy Wampler, the new Services at Large Case Manager, are assisting citizens in navigating through our health system and finding links to other available resources. Lori works out of Carl Albert Hospital in Ada to assist Chickasaws living inside the boundaries of the Chickasaw Nation, and Amy works out of the Purcell Clinic to assist Chickasaws living outside the boundaries of the Chickasaw Nation.

Lori and Amy are assisting citizens in accessing programs that provide needed medical equipment like walkers and wheelchairs. They are able to offer information and assistance regarding home health and hospice. They are even helping coordinate transportation to appointments they have helped scheduled. Lori and Amy will work to answer and address any questions regarding accessing the health system. Lori can be reached by calling (580) 272-5813. Amy's phone number is (405) 767 8976.

Amy and Lori are active and on the move. So, if you call and get a recording, leave a message. They need you to leave a message. Leaving a message activates their cell phones and notifies them of your message. They can then call you back.

Remember, in this time of economic uncertainty, your Chickasaw citizenship is a valuable asset to be used in navigating challenging times.

Respectfully,
Katie

Summer camps offer our children opportunities to grow - and have fun!

Wanda Blackwood Tippit Scott
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Some of the greatest opportunities for our Chickasaw children come around each Summer as the Chickasaw Nation offers the many camps for our kids.

There is such a great number of choices these days for our kids! We want our students to have all the opportunity in the world, so we offer many camps to appeal to the children's individual interests.

Our students can choose from among space camp, entrepreneurship camp, leadership camp. There are camps with classroom settings, and there are camps that offer tremendous outdoor experiences. Some camps focus on academic discipline, and others focus on sports or career development.

All our kids seem to love sports, and we have plenty to offer! There is tennis camp, football camp, golf camp, softball camp, baseball camp and basketball camp. Whew! That's a lot of activity for our kids.

There are also excellent camps like the Chickasaw Summer Arts Academy at East Central University in Ada. This camp offers our children the opportunity to explore different aspects of the arts to discover their likes and talents. Children can really discover themselves!

The Aviation and Space Academy offers our students the opportunity to learn about flight and aircraft and basic engineering. The kids get to fly in a plane and discover the wonder of modern flight.

There is even a Chickasaw Family Language Immersion Camp. This great opportunity helps us learn our language and keep it alive and vibrant. A great experience for any Chickasaw!

We are dedicated to bringing you the very best camp experience to enrich your children and help them grow in their confidence, their culture and their dreams.

You will see announcements in the Chickasaw Times, on the tribal website, www.chickasaw.net, and other places regarding application deadlines and camp dates.

Don't let another year go by! Get your children involved this year. And get involved yourself.

You'll be glad you made the decision to become more engaged with your tribe.

And your kids will thank you!

Mr. and Mrs. Beshirs represent Achille senior center as Valentine King and Queen

Beth Alexander
Chickasaw Tribal Legislature

Every year the Chickasaw Nation Division on Aging hosts a Valentine's Banquet. This year the party was held at the community center in Tishomingo, Oklahoma. Each Chickasaw Senior Center has their King and Queen recognized and crowned at the banquet. Joe and Olene Beshirs were chosen to represent the Achille Senior Center. Joe and Olene have been married 62 years and set an excellent example of true Valentine Sweethearts!

They have spent a lifetime ministering God's word across America and are now enjoying retirement and the activities of the Senior Center.

While there, I had the opportunity to visit with several of our Chickasaw Elders and witness them in action on the dance floor. They made the "twist" and the "jitterbug" look easy.

Mr. Floyd Parnacher from the Purcell Center was in attendance. Floyd is a Chickasaw elder and a self taught artist! I am proud to say I have one of his paintings. To see some of his work, stop by the Purcell senior Center and let the staff give you a guided tour. I had a chance to make a new acquaintance, Mr. Jack Kirby of the Davis/Sulphur area. It was also nice to meet up with Mr. Harris, a friend that I have not seen in a few years.

Thank you to the Division on Aging staff for all their hard work and effort. I can't wait to see what next year's valentine theme will be!

Later in the month, I had a chance to meet up with other Legislators for lunch at the Connerville Senior Center located in Connerville, Okla. I caught the cook, Lillian Underwood in action serving the noon meal. Her partner in the picture is Lucille Norman. Lucille is an active senior at the center also. It was nice to hear from the citizens at the site. Drop by for lunch and enjoy Lillian's cooking. Lunch is served at 11:30 p.m. This is the best kept secret in Connerville.

Just want to remind you voters outside the boundaries to get settled in the voting district of your choice by April 1st. Currently, there are

December 2008 Resolutions

General Resolution Number 26-016

Authorization of Amendment of Chickasaw Banc Holding Company Certificate of Incorporation to Issue Preferred Stock and Thereby Allow Participation in TARP Program with the U.S. Treasury

Explanation: Approval of this resolution will authorize Chickasaw Banc Holding Company to apply for and potentially secure additional operating capital with which to conduct business through a program with the U.S. Treasury ("UST") known as the Troubled Asset Relief Program ("TARP"). This program is intended to place capital in strong, well-run banks. Under this program, in exchange for payment of additional paid in capital, the UST would be issued preferred stock and warrants for preferred stock in the Chickasaw Bank Holding Company. Thereby UST would become a non-voting (except for matters involving said preferred stock) shareholder with the Nation in the ownership of the Chickasaw Banc Holding Company, and therefore, Bank2, until such time as the funds are repaid to the UST by the Chickasaw Banc

Holding Company's repurchase of the preferred stock (redemption). The Board of the Chickasaw Banc Holding Company is requesting approval to apply for this additional capital and amend its certificate of incorporation to thereby continue to expand the bank holding company's ability to do business.

tion by tribal citizens and employees.

Debris from the tornado littered the countryside, especially in Carter, Murray and Pontotoc counties.

Ada resident Sandi Sanders, tribal health program director, said in the days following the storm she found enough wall-paper, insulation and roofing material to fill a 50-gallon sack. She suspects the debris is from the Lone Grove area.

Confirming her suspicions are receipts, a page from a student manual from Lone Grove School, more ledger sheets of financial records, a pay stub from Michelin Tire in Ardmore, and a baseball trading card, all found in her pasture.

Sanders lives about three miles southwest of Ada, and heard the tornado fly over her home.

"We stood on our porch that night and heard the roar of the tornado as it went through, but it was too dark to see it," she said. "It was like a roll of thunder that never built up to a crescendo or big boom. It went on for almost five minutes."

In the aftermath of the storm, there were no reports of any tribal facilities being damaged by the tornado.

Tribal citizens lose home to tornado

Chickasaw citizens Christine Lewis and Shirley Mose and their family became victims of the deadly Lone Grove tornado February 11.

Lewis said the family of four was attending a basketball game in the area when the storm hit.

Once they realized what had occurred, she said, authorities would not allow access to the area where their home was located.

Lewis' home was located just off of U.S. 70 in the heart of Lone Grove, an area hard hit by the tornado.

The family sought shelter at Carter Seminary, where they spent the night.

They lost their pet Chihuahua and most of their belongings.

In the days following the tornado, family and friends came to the home sight to help pick through the debris.

Assistance is needed to replace household items and clothing, including ladies and men's clothing.

Donations may be delivered to the old federal building in Ardmore.

To make arrangements for pick up or delivery of donations, please contact Mr. Ron Parker at (580) 436-2603, extension 62140, or (580) 504-5914.

Pontotoc County Reserve Deputy Trisha Taylor and Lighthorse officer Robby Williams get water ready to distribute to victims of the Lone Grove tornado. Taylor also serves as a dispatcher for the LHP. Several tribal entities assisted in search and rescue efforts in the storm's aftermath.

Federal grants available to families and businesses affected by storm

Oklahoma residents affected by the recent several storms and tornadoes have been approved for more than $750,000 in federal grants for temporary housing and home repairs.

The Oklahoma Department of Emergency Management (OEM), the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), and the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) are encouraging Oklahomans to apply. Individuals, families and business owners who live in the Oklahoma counties of Carter, Logan and Oklahoma and suffered damages from the storms February 10 and 11 are eligible for disaster assistance grants and low-interest SBA loans.

The Chickasaw Nation community of Lone Grove, in Carter County, was especially hard hit. Eight people were killed by a tornado and the community suffered severe property damage.

To apply to FEMA, call 800-621-3362 or go online to www.disasterassistance.gov

To apply to SBA, call 800-659-2955 or go online to www.sba.gov/services/disasterassistance

"Chickasaw Citizen"

Gov. Anoatubby began an unprecedented sixth consecutive term as governor of the Chickasaw Nation in Oct. 2007.

When he was first elected governor, the Chickasaw Nation had 250 employees and $11 million in annual outlays. Today, the tribe employs more than 10,500 and annual outlays exceed $500 million.

Gov. Anoatubby has long been recognized as a leader on health care issues. In 1994, the Chickasaw Nation became the first tribe in the U.S. to compact with the U.S. Indian Health Service to assume administrative and operational control of its own health care system.

Oklahoma Gov. Brad Henry appointed Gov. Anoatubby to the Oklahoma Health Care Authority board of directors April 18, 2005. In October 2007, Gov. Anoatubby was elected to the board of directors of Integris Health, Inc. He has also served on Gov. Henry's Task Force on Mental Health, Substance Abuse and Domestic Violence.

In 2007, Gov. Anoatubby received the Centennial Leadership Award for Preservation of State and Local History from the Oklahoma Heritage Association.

He serves as chair of the Native American Cultural and Educational Authority, the state agency created in 1994 to construct an American Indian Cultural Center and Museum in Oklahoma City.

He is also a member of the Oklahoma Heritage Association Board of Directors, the Oklahoma Centennial Commission board, the Oklahoma State Fair Board of Directors, the Jasmine Moran Children's Museum Board of Trustees and the Oklahoma Creativity Project Board.

Gov. Anoatubby was among four to be honored at the event.

Henry Zarrow received the Lifetime Achievement Award.

The Lifetime Achievement Award recognizes an individual who has used his leadership abilities over a lifetime to improve the quality of life for Oklahoma's citizens and its future generations.

QuikTrip Corporation received the Business Leadership Award.

The Business Leadership Award was created to recognize a business entity for its impact in promoting leadership principles and practice, implementing programs worthy of example and fostering growth of quality leadership.

Griffin Communications received the Statewide Community Award.

The Statewide Community Award recognizes an organization or company that, through specific projects or efforts, has reached across our valued differences to develop among Oklahomans a keen sense of common purpose and a more profound sense of loyalty to our state.

This award has been created to promote a heightened sense of appreciation for the possibilities available when Oklahomans work together as a single statewide community.

Tribal radio stations honored by broadcasters' association

Two tribally-owned radio stations, KADA and sister station KYKC, recently received state-wide recognition from the Oklahoma Association of Broadcasters (OAB).

KADA, also known as Cool 99.3 FM, was awarded first place in the Commercial Announcement category for the Non-Metro Radio Division. The Star Wars-themed commercial for Cable One in Ada was one of nearly 60 entries.

"It's a big honor," said Roger Harris, general manager of the South Central Oklahoma Radio Enterprises.

Harris said a certain satisfaction comes from being recognized by peers.

"The association is made up of radio and television people, so they know the business well," he said.

Rich Kaye was named as a finalist for the division's Personality of the Year for 2008. Kaye hosts 100.1 KYKC's morning show and has been with the station since 1992.

"It feels great to be considered for this award," he said. "I love what I do. Every day on the air is different and I just go in and have fun."

Both KYKC and KADA are broadcast from Ada to the Ada region.

Gov. Bill Anoatubby said he was pleased to learn of the awards.

Rich Kaye

"These awards add to a long list of honors these stations have received," said Gov. Anoatubby. "Recognition from this organization confirms that the staff and management of these stations continue to produce excellent work."

The OAB is a non-profit organization of commercial radio and television stations organized to serve the public interest and promote the cooperation and prosperity of its members.

KADA will be honored and the Personality of the Year award winner will be announced at the OAB Awards Banquet April 17 in Tulsa.

The Non-Metro Division includes all stations in Oklahoma except those located in Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

Annual event among best

National Night Out group recognized for Ada success

Ada's 2008 National Night Out (NNO) event was honored for the third consecutive year as one of the best in the United States. This is the fourth time in five years the Chickasaw Nation, the city of Ada, and East Central University (ECU) have shared the award from the National Association of Town Watch. All three organizations work together to host the event on the first Tuesday of August each year.

"National Night Out is a great example of our many successful partnerships with the City of Ada and ECU," said Gov. Bill Anoatubby. "This award is further confirmation that this event is helping strengthen the bonds between local law enforcement agencies and all members of the community."

National Night Out is a nationwide crime and drug prevention event designed to heighten awareness and strengthen participation in local anticrime efforts, and to strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships.

Locally, the event gives people of the Ada community an opportunity to interact with several law enforcement agencies, local fire departments, EMS crews

Participants learn not only about crime prevention, but recycling, good nutrition, foster care and fire safety and other important issues at the informational booths.

"Whenever something good is going on in this community, the Chickasaw Nation is always there. I appreciate all the efforts of the tribe," Ada mayor Barbara Young said. "Without the tribe in this community, we would not enjoy the same quality of life."

"We look forward to National Night Out every year, said Sonya Hensley, ECU tribal police training program coordinator.

"It's a great partnership and each year we have more and more participation from the community and law enforcement."

In 2008, Ada's NNO ranked #15 in cities with population with less than 15,000. Last year, more than 500 community members attended the Ada NNO, making the local effort one of the largest in the state. Ada is one of 11,000 communities across the nation and Canada, and on military bases that take part in the event.

The 2008 award recipients are based on overall campaign, neighborhood participation, law enforcement involvement, media and promotional campaign, special events and other criteria.

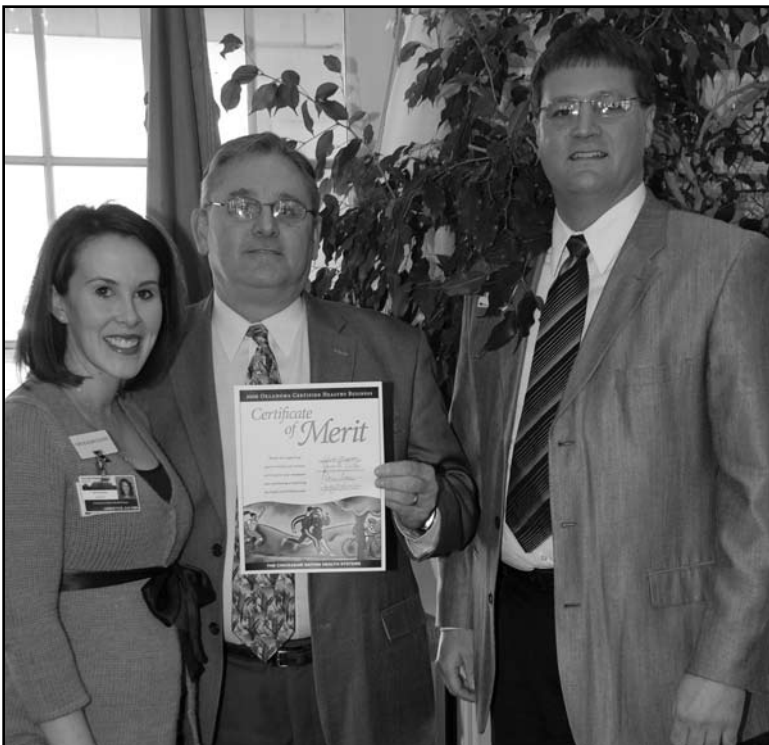

National Night Out was introduced by the National Association of Town Watch (NATW) in 1984 as a means of increasing participation in neighbor watch participation. Since its inception, the nationwide program has grown to reach 30 million people.

The 2009 National Night Out event is set for Tuesday, August 4 on the campus of East Central University.

For more information about the Ada's NNO, contact Matt Folsom at 580-272-5505.

Students study pottery, language, dance

Chikashsha Apihchi Ikbi youth experience cultural lessons

Members of Chikashsha Apihchi Ikbi (Youth Leadership Chickasaw) were immersed from head to toe in Chickasaw culture during the group's February 14 session, conducted in Ada.

More than 20 students used their hands to mold clay, their feet to learn the traditional Chickasaw dance and their ears to hear native stories and new Chickasaw words during the session.

The program "Introduction to Clemente" was led by Laura Clark, Chickasaw Nation Humanities and Literary Arts coordinator, and Mark Milligan, tribal Humanities and Arts assistant.

Milligan explained the history of pottery and how it was used in the tribe and compared Chickasaw pottery to Southwestern tribal pottery.

Students, most whom are Chickasaw, were given a slab of red clay to mold into whatever design they desired.

Joshua Hinson, director of Chickasaw Studies for the Division of Culture, also spoke to the group about efforts to preserve and expand the Chickasaw language.

"The Chickasaw language is not an archaic language, it is living and viable," he said.

One goal of the language preservation program, Hinson explained, was to offer Chickasaw language courses at state colleges and universities so future teachers could teach Chickasaw as a foreign language in public schools.

Hinson also spoke of the potential to eventually have hundreds of people speaking Chickasaw through the tribe's education efforts.

"The Chickasaw Nation has the will, the determination and the capacity (to restore the language) more than any other tribe in the United States," he said.

Several new technology-related words were also presented to the group.

An interactive demonstration by the Chickasaw Dance Troupe and stories by Chickasaw storyteller Lorie Robins were also an educational part of the day.

The lessons gave Chance Brown, of Ardmore, "a more in depth understanding of the arts, particularly Chickasaw arts."

Chance aspires to be in the studio arts after high school and college, and he particularly enjoyed the time dedicated to molding clay.

Since the Chikashsha Apihchi Ikbi program began in September 2008, Chance said he had a better appreciation for the time everyone, from guest speakers to the tribal youth specialist, invests to insure the group has the tools to succeed, and the tribe prospers.

Chance is a senior at Dickson High School. His parents are Peggy Brawley and Kelvin Bates.

The next Chikashsha Apihchi Ikbi meeting is scheduled for March 14 in Ada. The topic will be professional etiquette.

The program equips students with the tools, skill and knowledge to become tomorrow's tribal leaders, and also stresses the importance of community service.

For more information about the Chikashsha Apihchi Ikbi program, contact Tonya Bierce, youth leadership coordinator at (580) 310-6620.

Head Start kids to learn dental health with 'Healthy, Happy Smiles'

ADA, Okla. - The Chickasaw Nation Head Start will enhance its current dental education program by incorporating a dental home initiative plan thanks to a $4,923 grant from the American Dental Association Foundation's (ADAF) Samuel Harris Fund.

The grant will incorporate the Healthy, Happy Smiles program into the current Chickasaw Nation Head Start dental health program. The Healthy, Happy Smiles program will provide additional funding for a dental education home initiative. Through this home initiative, students will incorporate dental health practices formed in Head Start and establish a habit at home that will continue long after the child has graduated from the Head Start program.

The Chickasaw Nation Head Start program is one of 70 organizations selected from more than 275 Samuel Harris Fund for Children's Dental Health Grants Program applications. This grant will provide funding for additional dental health education materials for 256 Chickasaw Nation Head Start students through the Ada, Ardmore, Duncan, Madill Sulphur and Tishomingo centers.

The Chickasaw Nation Head Start program serves children in a center based, classroom environment that promotes the early childhood development stages. This program offers components in education, parent or guardian involvement, health, social services and services for children with disabilities.

The ADAF develops grants in the areas of dental research, education, access to care and charitable assistance for dentists and their dependents. Established by the ADAF in 1999 to help support community dental programs, the Samuel Harris Fund is a permanent endowment established through a generous gift by Dr. Samuel Harris. Grants of up to $5,000 go to educational and preventive programs that set goals to help improve children's dental health. This year, 70 programs received funding out of more than 275 submitted applications. Grants totaled $322,095.

School to Work a 'hand up'

Unique tribal program helps student focus on goals

Josh Bess

Josh Bess is a living example of the Chickasaw Nation's mission, to improve the quality of life of Chickasaw citizens.

Since he began working closely with the tribe's School to Work program his life has improved exponentially.

Just a few years ago, Bess was the sole provider for his family of three. To say he was overtaxed was an understatement.

The young father was working two jobs at night in Ada, attending college classes full time in Tishomingo during the day, and running a lawn service during his "spare time." "I would get home at one or two in the morning and get up the next day and do it all again," he said.

He then heard about the Chickasaw Nation School to Work program.

Students accepted into the program attend class and work in internship programs. Students, who are all Chickasaw citizens, are considered employees and receive a pay check and benefits for their efforts. The program is designed for non-traditional students.

"I heard about the program from a friend and thought it sounded perfect for me, because what I was doing was pretty tough," Bess said.

His life began to improve when he was accepted to the program.

"It's changed me in the biggest way possible."

Not only did his schedule improve, he was able to discover his career goals and dramatically improve his grade point average.

He earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average last semester and wants to be an interpretive ranger for the National Park Service.

Currently, he is working toward a degree in elementary education, and completing his student teaching at Francis Elementary School in the Byng School system.

He expects to graduate in May and has been accepted to an August park ranger training program in Franklin, N.C.

He credits the Chickasaw Nation and the School to Work program for giving him the drive and direction he needed to be a success.

"It's really turned me around," he said. "I am a whole step above where I was a few years ago."

When he and wife Kassie had daughter, Brianna, it was also part of Josh's motivation to succeed.

"Now I know I will be able to have a career and take care of my family," he said.

Bess also worked with the tribe's Home Ownership program and was able to move out of a cramped apartment into a home near Pickett.

"That's also helped our family," he said. "It provided us with a stable place to live and a better environment. The Chickasaw Nation has helped me out a lot."

Chickasaw engineer making lives better

Meteorologist engaged in Oklahoma water supply expansion

Chickasaw citizen Suzanne Van Cooten spends her days connecting the dots between meteorology (the study of measurements) and hydrology (the study of water) in an effort to improve the lives of people from all walks of life.

The Oklahoma native, who holds advanced degrees in meteorology and engineering, works at the National Weather Center in Norman, Okla. She is currently focusing her efforts on two areas, south-central Oklahoma's Arbuckle-Simpson aquifer and the shores of North Carolina.

Drawing on a wealth of experience, Van Cooten is involved in researching methods to manage the water supply in Oklahoma, and to warn residents of high water levels in North Carolina.

In Oklahoma, she is busy with the Water Bank project, which, as the name indicates, probes ways to "bank" excess surface water in the aquifer.

The project will model and predict the amount of water entering and exiting a local watershed in the aquifer and develop tools to store the water.

"We are going to track rain drops all the way into the aquifer," she said.

The science behind the concept is a bit more complicated.

Van Cooten, who holds a bachelor's degree in meteorology, a master's degree in civil/environmental engineering, and a doctorate in engineering and applied science, said the project involves many entities, landowners' cooperation and scientific research.

The Chickasaw Nation, Oklahoma Water Resource Board and Oklahoma Mesonet System are a few of the partners in this project.

When the research is complete, scientists should be able to provide a science-based answer about water supply issues, Van Cooten said, so all entities can work together.

Water is essential for economic growth in the state, she said, and this project would allow the state to guarantee a water supply.

"It's a great story to tell for a state that has the dust bowl as its legacy, to go out and say 'we can grow water.'"

The project is an outgrowth of Oklahoma Senate Bill 1410 passed in 2008, which states, "The Oklahoma Legislature hereby finds that protection and conservation of our state's most precious natural resource, water, is our most important duty on behalf of the citizens of Oklahoma."

Flood Prediction

Van Cooten is also tracking

Suzanne Van Cooten, Ph.D., at the National Weather Center in Norman, Okla. A Chickasaw citizen, Van Cooten is probing ways to improve the lives of people around the globe.

raindrops in another project, CI-FLOW (Coastal and Inland Flood Observation and Warning Project). She oversees this project in her position as National Sea Grant Weather/Climate Extension Specialist.

The CI-FLOW project involves many agencies and evaluates and tests new technologies to develop a flood levels warning system. It was initiated in response to the huge losses caused by storm-surge and coastal flooding from Hurricanes Floyd and Dennis.

"Currently, there is no information on how high the water will be after the storm," she said.

The area of concentration is the Tar-Pamlico and Neuse river basins of coastal North Carolina.

Using her background in hydrology and meteorology, she is working on ways to use the research and provide an accurate forecast. Van Cooten uses several models and radar to develop this system.

Tracking inflow and outflow of water, she said, is "a mathematical nightmare."

"The science part is connecting the two models together and grid the water, and that's hard," she said.

The objective of this research is to develop models for all coast lines and flood plains around the world.

The research will provide a better system on when and where to evacuate people.

"Getting the right forecast to them is critical," she said.

Bottling Electricity

Van Cooten grew up in the Oklahoma City area and attended the University of Oklahoma. The first two years of college, she studied electrical engineering, and then made the switch to meteorology, a field that has afforded her a career-full of variety.

A few of her career highlights include an internship with famed Oklahoma weatherman Gary England at KWTW; a stint at the National Weather Service in Dallas/Ft. Worth; working with NEXRAD radar and Mesonet systems; and forecasting and predicting hurricanes in the Gulf of Mexico.

About four years ago, she returned to Oklahoma to work at the weather center.

When asked what drew her to a male-dominated scientific field, she said she wanted to capture the force of lightning to make electricity when she was a child.

"It's still about supply and demand," she said, "but now I am working with water."

Also influencing her decision was her mother's family, who were farmers in rural Oklahoma, a profession where weather is life and death.

Today, she gets to use her education to help people, and she hopes more young Chickasaws chose to follow in her path.

Van Cooten works closely with the Chickasaw Nation's Aviation and Space Academy (CNASA) in an effort to inform Chickasaw youth of the wide variety of science-related job opportunities in Oklahoma.

"There is such under representation of Native Americans in meteorology," Van Cooten said. "Students can work here, with great benefits and job security, and they know the area, which is valuable. There is such an opportunity."

The opportunity is growing for Native Americans, she said, to assume leadership roles in the federal government.

Himalayan kindergarten

Writer heading to India to teach elementary children

One Chickasaw Nation employee will soon be taking his sense of adventure and concern for education to new heights - 6,000 feet above sea level to be exact.

Next month, KC King, web writer and developer for the tribal Division of Communication, will be headed to Calcutta, India and taking the month-long Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) course.

After the completion of the course, King will travel to Uttarakhand, a rural Northern India state carved out of the Himalayas.

He will be teaching children in the Indian equivalent of kindergarten through fifth grade at the SASA academy, a charitable institution established in 2000 by the Serve and Share Association.

King has always held an interest in India and its culture. As he learned more about the country, he found that it needed more than just his interest.

Chickasaw Nation employee KC King. King will be soon be traveling to India to teach English as a second language.

"A staggering amount of Himalayan children never have the chance earn the education needed to reach their full potential," he said.

With a bachelor's degree in English from East Central University, King was motivated to find a way to utilize his education to enrich the lives of Indian students.

"Learning English as a second language can be the boost that these students need to open numerous doors for their educations and careers," he said. King discovered an organization based in England called the Himalayan Education Lifeline Programme (HELP).

Founded in 2002, HELP provides support to children in poor Himalayan communities to give them a chance to complete their educations.

"These children can start working at a very early age and not stop until they die," King said. "Hopefully, I can do my part to give these children the chance to further their education and in turn create more opportunities."

Many families in the region live in extreme poverty. Because of this, some families can't afford to spare their children for school when they could be working. This creates a cycle of children forgoing education and living limited lives. This cycle keeps children trapped in the impoverished existence into which they were born.

King said that even if a child makes it to school, the quality of education can be poor.

"Teachers are often unmotivated and unqualified," he said. "At times, the students can show up to school and wait on their teachers for hours."

King attributes having a lot of international friends in college and working for the Chickasaw

Nation with helping fuel his thirst for knowledge about other cultures.

After months of research and thinking about teaching abroad, he decided to take the plunge.

"I was feeling a little stagnant," he said. "So I said, 'why not now?' ...I'm young and I want to get away, travel and see things."

Although he has tentative plans to return to the United States after six months, King is taking a "wait and see" approach to see where his journey takes him.

While he's anxious to soak up the local culture, King's not sure how he'll react to seeing such extreme poverty.

"It'll either make me or break me," he said. "I'll either want to run back home or become extremely committed."

Chickasaw choreographer recognized for Beatles tap dance set Chickasaw dancer Jade McKenzie recently became a nationally recognized choreographer.

Her two-minute tap dance piece, set to the Beatles song "Come Together," earned Miss McKenzie a coveted slot in the showcase concert at the 125th Annual American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (AAHPERD) Convention and Exposition.

"I had originally worked on it for our Spring Concert, but then my instructor submitted it, Miss McKenzie said.

"It seemed like it took forever to hear back from them, but I was so excited when we finally heard that we'd won."

Dr. Victoria Dansby, East Central University kinesiology professor and Miss McKenzie's dance instructor, said she was incredibly proud of her student's accomplishment.

"It's very competitive," Dr. Dansby said. "And for a student to have a work selected is just amazing."

A long-time Beatles fan, Miss McKenzie was inspired one day while driving. "I'd heard the song a thousand times, but that day, I started hearing taps instead of beats," she said. "The rest of the choreography kind of flowed from there."

At the age of two, she discovered dancing as a creative outlet.

"I'm not a very loud and outgoing person," she said. "But when I'm dancing, I can express myself and be loud with my body."

Miss McKenzie is a junior at East Central University, majoring in mass communications with a minor in dance. She currently works as teacher with the Chickasaw Nation after school program.

She is the daughter of Becky McKenzie, of Ada, and Ned McKenzie of Coalgate, Okla.

Federal EQIP conservation program open through April 1

The deadline has been extended for qualifying Oklahoma farmers and ranchers to apply for federal conservation payments.

Producers now have through April 1 to apply for payments under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP). The program is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture – Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS).

The EQIP program is a voluntary conservation program. It provides technical assistance to help crop and livestock producers address environmental concerns. Farmers and ranchers traditionally utilize EQIP to produce crops and livestock in an environmentally friendly manner, while still meeting their production goals.

To qualify for EQIP, applicants must be in compliance with Highly Erodible Land and Wetland Conservation provisions, have an interest in the agricultural operation, and have control of the land for the proposed contract period. Tenants may also apply, and written concurrence from the landowner is required in order to begin an EQIP project.

"We are accepting applications for participation in the EQIP program on a continuous basis," NRCS tribal resource conservationist Clay Horton said. "However, only applications received by April 1, 2009 will be ranked and considered during this expanded selection period."

Chickasaw Citizen

Cole Meeks inspired by 'A Life Worth Following'

Young pitcher tours with Ambassadors, sharing skills and faith

Chickasaw citizen Cole Meeks recently completed an outstanding summer baseball experience as a pitcher with the Oklahoma City Ambassadors. The Ambassadors played a full schedule of top quality games and tournaments, travelling to Phoenix, Wichita, Tulsa, Stillwater, SBC Bricktown Ballpark in OKC, the University of Oklahoma, and more.

They finished the season with a mission/baseball trip to Nicaragua where they we played each night in front of thousands of fans. The team's final season record was 43-10.

Cole's pitching record for the season was 5-1. Cole's earned run average was 2.1, the lowest of all of the Ambassador pitchers. He also pitched two shutouts, including a perfect game (no hits, no errors, no runners reaching base) in a game in Phoenix.

The team is made up of baseball players from Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas. This tour marked the team's inaugural season. The idea for this ball club was formed in the aftermath of a terrible tragedy. Six years ago, Justin Sullivan was a rising baseball star from Yukon (OK) High School. He was named Oklahoma's state baseball player of the year on a summer Sunday, then was killed in an automobile accident the very next day. Out of the tragedy came a Christian devotion inspired by his journal entitled, "A Life Worth Following." Out of the journal came a baseball team dedicated to Justin's example, the Oklahoma City Ambassadors.

The Ambassador team is about much more than baseball. All of the Ambassador players shared a passion for baseball and a heart for Christ.

During the season, the Ambassadors worked through "A Life Worth Following," having team devotionals twice a week and meeting with accountability partners. The team conducted weekly clinics for kids, teaching baseball and sharing their faith as well as playing our opponents. They even shared with opponents after each game, telling Justin's story and giving baseball-seam bracelets inspired by Justin's grandfather.

You can read all about their summer season on the internet at www.alifeworthfollowing.org.

Chickasaw juniors and seniors with a talent for baseball and a mind for Christian based ministry are particularly encouraged to consider submitting a player interest form, which can be found on the website.

Cole has already secured a spot in the pitching rotation for the 2009 Ambassadors and is looking forward to another exciting summer season. Cole is a homeschooled student and plays spring baseball for the OKC Broncos.

He is the son of Kevin and Janice Meeks, of Tuttle, Okla., and the grandson of Don and Laruth Meeks, of Byng, Okla. His greatgrandmother was full blood Chickasaw, Bygimie (Perry) Parker.

'Go Fly a Kite' at White House

The Chickasaw Nation will host an old-fashioned kite-flying event next month on the grounds of the historic Chickasaw White House. All kids are welcome along with their families to join the festivities!

The family-oriented event will take place April 17-18 and April 24-25 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Chickasaw White House is located in Emet, Okla.

In the early 1900s when Chickasaw Governor Douglas H. Johnston lived in the White House, creating and flying kites was one of his family's favorite pastimes.

Kite flying was also a popular social event when the home was a meeting place for many local gatherings.

To celebrate that history, area residents are invited to the White House each spring for a kite flying festival.

This event is free and open to the public. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

"Bring your own kite and join in the fun, or use one of the kites provided by the staff," said Regina Berna, tribal museums and historic sites director.

The newly-restored historic home will be open for tours, upon request.

Directions to the Chickasaw White House:

Emet, Oklahoma is located southeast of Tishomingo in southeastern Oklahoma. Tishomingo can be accessed by Hwy 377 from the north or south.

From downtown Tishomingo go east on State Highway OK-22/OK-78 through Milburn (7 miles). Continue on Highway 78 for approximately three miles past Milburn. Watch for cemetery sign on east (left) side of highway, turn west (right) at the cemetery sign on Mansion Road and go approximately one-half mile. The White House is on the north (right) side of the road, 6379 East Mansion Road.

For information about the Chickasaw White House and events, contact Glenda Galvan at the Chickasaw Nation, (580) 235-7343 or (580) 332-8685.

Mike McKee

On February 20, the Chickasaw Nation and the Oklahoma State Department of Health (OSDH) signed a memorandum of agreement addressing the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Supplemental Nutrition Program Electronic Benefits Transfer Initiative.

Through the agreement, the Chickasaw Nation and OSDH will work together to maximize resources during the implementation of an electronic benefit system.

"We are pleased to be involved in this partnership," said Governor Bill Anoatubby. "This new WIC system will benefit all involved by enhancing efficiency for the state, tribes and vendors, enabling us to improve services for our clients."

Transferring to an electronic benefit system will require coordination with contracted grocery stores. The transfer will allow WIC programs across the United States to benefit from the partnership established between the Chickasaw Nation and OSDH by utilizing resources and outcomes of the collaborative effort when they are ready to implement an electronic benefit system.

Consulting a dietitian can improve your life - or save it!

In addition to the special activities offered during National Nutrition Month, the Chickasaw Nation employs 12 dietitians who are available for individual consultations throughout the year. To make an appointment with a registered dietitian, please call (888) 436-7255.

According to the American Dietetic Association, below are reasons why consulting with a registered dietitian can benefit you.

--You have diabetes, cardiovascular problems or high blood pressure. A registered dietitian serves as an integral part of your health care team by helping you safely change your eating plan without compromising taste or nutrition.

--You have digestive problems. A registered dietitian will work with your physician to help fine tune your diet so you are not aggravating your condition with fried foods, too much caffeine or carbonation.

--You're pregnant or trying to get pregnant. A registered dietitian can help make sure you get nutrients like folate, especially during the first three months of pregnancy, lowering your newborn's risk for neural tube or spinal cord defects.

--You need guidance and confidence for breastfeeding your baby. A registered dietitian can help make sure you're getting enough iron, vitamin D, fluoride and B vitamins for you and your little one.

--Your teenager has issues with food and eating healthfully. A registered dietitian can assist with eating disorders like anorexia, bulimia and overweight issues.

--You need to gain or lose weight. A registered dietitian can suggest additional calorie sources for healthy weight gain or a restricted-calorie eating plan plus regular physical activity for weight loss while still eating all your favorite foods.

--You're caring for an aging parent. A registered dietitian can help with food or drug interaction, proper hydration, special diets for hypertension and changing taste buds as you age.

Northern Pontotoc Chickasaw Council meets in Newcastle

The Northern Pontotoc Chickasaw Council met on Thursday, January 19. We elected our Chair, Todd Griffith; Vice-chair, Jim Ogle; Sec/Treas., Betty Arbuckle; three Members at Large, Carol Miller, Chencie Ross, and Stephanie Young.

We still need a reporter!! Please volunteer your services, we need you.

We are now having a potluck dinner before each meeting from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Our meetings are on the second Thursday of each month.

Melissa Church did a presentation on nutrition and brought us two recipes-apple salsa and popcorn with different seasonings. They were wonderful!

Sherri McManus, Services at Large Outreach, Tom John, Administrator of Self Governance, and Amy Wampler, Services at Large Case Manager, also spoke about their jobs.

We are working on our third year of being a council. We have had gift baskets handed out at Thanksgiving, had our Governor come up and have dinner with us -- just two of the wonderful things that goes on at TriCity America!

New Mexico Chickasaw Council to meet March 21 in Albuquerque

The New Mexico Chickasaw Community Council was established in February 2007 and will be gathering for its fifth meeting on March 21. The meetings have been a wonderful chance for New Mexico Chickasaws to stay connected to tradition, heritage, and the overall community. They have also been beneficial in providing information about the different At-Large Services and the Chickasaw Education Programs.

Our March meeting will be at the Sheraton Uptown in Albuquerque from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. We encourage all Chickasaw citizens in New Mexico to come out and join us. This will be our special spring meeting where we will pass the torch, and hold elections for the Board of Director positions for 2009.

If you would like to nominate someone for a board position or have any questions about the New Mexico Community Council, please send an email to chickasaw.nm@gmail.com.

--You want to eat smarter. A registered dietitian can help you sort through misinformation; learn how to read labels at the supermarket; discover that healthy cooking is inexpensive, learn how to eat out without ruining your eating plan and how to resist workplace temptations.

--You want to improve your performance in sports. A registered dietitian can help you set goals to achieve results -- whether you're running a marathon, skiing or jogging with your dog.

Wichita Council meets at Old Cowtown visitors center

February found us meeting in the lovely visitors center of Old Cowtown here in Wichita. Refreshments of Valentine cookies and hot cocoa were provided by Joyce and Howard Barnes, long time members of our council.

We had a guest speaker from the Cultural Department, Janet Reubin, the Program Developer. She spoke to us about the time capsule and how important this is to the Chickasaw Nation. We were told about what sort of information the Nation wants each family to submit for the future generations to view.

Also as a Council, we are also encouraged to submit something significant to be included. Reubin gave each member present an envelope with a card explaining this program. She also had some brochures for the new Cultural Center located in Sulphur, Okla. With that, she fielded several questions which she was happy to answer.

Lynn Stumblingbear, chairperson, brought in two dresses and explained to the Council about them. One dress was a plain black dress with a plain white apron adorned with silver trade broaches and ribbon at the shoulders. The other was a bit more fancy in red trimmed in black and gold ribbons. The apron was made of gold colored organdy.

The red dress was adapted for pow wows or perhaps a more formal use rather than everyday wear. She had pictures of women dressed in traditional calico dresses and some pictures of the men of the Stomp Dance Troupe so we could see how the men are attired. Janet Reubin answered questions about the dresses in Oklahoma.

Stumblingbear shared with the Council that the Indian Center has taken notice of our Council and has requested that we give presentations about our tribe. We feel that this is an opportunity to use many of the Nation's professionally prepared dvds, books and other materials to showcase the Chickasaw Nation and it's people. This event is in works for May/June.

Our next scheduled meeting is March 15, 3 p.m. at the Visitors Center of Old Cowtown. Please come and bring a visitor.

Central Texas Council meets, receives gift of smudge kit from Charles Holland

During the monthly meeting of the Central Texas Council on February 8, the Council was presented with a Smudge Kit. Council and board member, Charles Holland presented the kit to chairman Gene Thompson.

Charles explained the use of the smudge kit for ceremonies. He explained that different plant material is burned depending on ceremony. Sage is burned for cleansing, cedar for protection and sweet grass to call all spirits. Sweet grass is usually combined with sage or cedar depending on the need for the event.

Papers from tribal leaders of the 1890s available

By RICHARD GREEN
Contributing Writer

Author's Note: I have been researching and writing Chickasaw history for so long (since 1992) that from time-to-time it seems appropriate to re-circulate certain information for a new generation of interested readers. What follows is a rewritten version of an article that appeared in Volume 4, Number 4 (1998) of The Journal of Chickasaw History.

The election for governor of the Chickasaw Nation in 1898 pitted the tribe's treasurer against a tribal school administrator. The winner, Douglas H. Johnston, superintendent of Bloomfield Academy, went on to serve as governor continuously with only a two-year interruption until his death in 1939. The loser, Hindman H. Burris, lived until 1940, but his political life apparently ended with his defeat.

Prior to 1898, Burris had been a tribal auditor and legislator who served during the tumultuous period when the United States was bent on terminating tribal government and allotting its land to individual tribe members. Before he exited from public life, he gathered up some of his tribal papers and then later added some private correspondence and put them all into two suitcases.

Years later, his son, Perry Burris, found the suitcases in his parents' old home. Before Perry died in 1965, he gave the collection to his daughter, Sue Burris Minter of Canyon County, Calif.

In 1998, Ms. Minter told me she had been in "a quandary," trying to figure out what to do with the papers. She was sure no family member would try to keep them together. So she loaned them to "the Mormons in Salt Lake City, [UT] for microfilming." Then, she donated a copy of the microfilm to the Chickasaw Nation. "My aim," she said then, "is to share [this] with the people of the tribe."

Despite the importance of the positions Burris held with the tribe, little was known about him prior to the donation. A biographical sketch appearing in the June 1942 issue of The Chronicles of Oklahoma consisted of little more than a list of titles stitched together between his birth, incorrectly reported to be in 1862 (it was 1858), and his death in 1940.

Commenting on the donation in 1998, Glenda Galvan, then curator of the Chickasaw Library, said the donation would benefit historians and genealogists. "This large number of documents not only provides insights into Burris's life, but also provides some information on the workings of tribal government. The papers also provide research clues for further information sources."

The hundreds of papers pictured on the microfilm, mainly letters to and from Burris and his second wife, Viola, cover the last two decades of the 19th century and the first 40 years of the 20th century. The microfilm also contains images of newspaper articles and speeches of interest to tribal members.

For example, there are addresses of William L. Byrd and William M. Guy, both candidates for governor in 1888 (Byrd won that election). Also included is a hand-written, very low-key campaign speech by Burris in the 1898 gubernatorial election. It reads in part,

"I am no party man and propose to treat all alike, believing that our interests were mutual and one set of men should not be favored more than another, provided qualifications are equal. And qualifications and not favors should make a man eligible to office. ... I will say that I have served you for a number of years officially. Consequently, I am no stranger. You know whether I am competent to fill such a position as you would wish. There is no need of making you big promises of what I will do should I be elected, further than saying that I will endeavor to get the very best men I can for cabinet offices so that I can have their advice and assistance at all times."

His opponent, Douglas Johnston, made numerous big promises and as a result, carried all four districts.

Some of the correspondence to Burris was from Byrd, who at the time owned a general store in Stonewall. Burris managed the store for Byrd after he was elected governor in 1888. Burris later became a partner in a Tishomingo general store with Robert M. Harris, who was elected governor in 1896. If general stores were a launching pad for the governorship, perhaps Burris quit the business too soon to become national treasurer before his own ill-fated run for the tribe's highest office in 1898.

Burris was married twice. He married Roda Folsom in 1885; they had no children. According to the Daily Ardmoreite, she apparently committed suicide in February 1898. Burris then married Viola Jackson, who bore him five children.

The Burris microfilm may be viewed at the Tribal Library in Ada. The Library's hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The phone is 580-310-6477.

Richard Green may be contacted at rgreen26@cox.net or 405-947-5020.

Now arriving in your inbox: clippings of Chickasaw history

By RICHARD GREEN
Contributing Writer

In January 1875, President Ulysses S. Grant recommended that Congress establish a territorial government with jurisdiction over the Indian nations within Indian Territory. Reacting quickly, Chickasaw Governor B.F. Overton sent a message to the tribal legislature warning that such a territorial government would be the first step in “the overthrow of Indian nationality.”

Governor Overton made a number of recommendations, including his desire to appoint tribal commissioners to travel to Washington, D.C., to “protest any Congressional legislation” contrary to the treaties between the U.S. and the Chickasaw Nation, or that would “interfere with or annul” the tribal government. One specific example would be the U.S. making grants of Chickasaw land to railroad companies.

His message was contained in a newspaper article that ran, of all places, in Chicago on January 9, 1875. Almost exactly 134 years later, a copy of it wound up one morning in my e-mail inbox.

The e-mail was forwarded to me by my friend, Dr. Wendy St. Jean, a Chickasaw scholar from Purdue University. She was downloading chronologically arranged articles ranging from 1874 to 1907 from two online newspaper archives. She was gathering this source material for a book tentatively titled, Remaining Chickasaw in the Nineteenth Century.

The article on Gov. Overton was the second link I opened in the e-mail. As I scrolled down, I stopped counting after a hundred links and realized that there were hundreds more. Wendy had generously and kindly forwarded all of the links to the newspaper articles to me because she knew I would make them available to the Nation’s archives.

Wendy’s contributions were not the first I received. Last year, independent researcher Mitch Caver of Baldwin, Miss., forwarded me a few copies of 18th and early 19th century newspaper articles he found using another online service. He still periodically e-mails me 18th and 19th century Chickasaw-related newspaper articles.

Several online databases are available. I haven’t reviewed them, so I don’t know enough to critique or recommend them. They can be accessed via your Web browser by a keyword search such as, “early American newspapers” or “nineteenth century newspapers.” Most are fee-based. Google offers a free service, but its archive doesn’t include many newspapers, especially from Oklahoma, which routinely reported news of the Chickasaw Nation east of the Mississippi River.

Recently, Mitch Caver e-mailed information about scanned newspapers between 1880 and 1910 at the Library of Congress Website. To use this free service, go to <http://www.loc.gov/index.html> and click on Digital Collections and then select Historic Newspapers.

Many of the articles sent to me by Wendy were from the Dallas Morning News (DMN), but others were from Indian Territory newspapers and papers in such far-flung locations as Philadelphia, Kansas City, Idaho, and Chicago — such as the one mentioned previously about Gov. Overton’s message.

It was one of the first of many in this series dealing with the Nation’s intractable problem of what to do about the continuing invasion of white settlers. The articles range from the mid-1870s to 1893, when Congress instructed the Dawes Commission to negotiate ending the governments of the “Five Civilized Tribes” and prepare lists of tribal members who would receive a land allotment from the former tribal domain.

The next section contains edited excerpts from a sampling of those 19th century articles. In the flowery journalistic style of the day, if the writer could use five words instead of one, five would be used. These samples are not meant to be a concise history of the period, but a look at the issue of Chickasaw land coveted by non-Indians — as reported by the contemporary newspapers. The territorial newspapers were almost exclusively owned and operated by non-Indian men, trying to sell papers and advance their own agendas.

Those factors should not disqualify them as sources of information, if we are mindful that most of the articles expressed the racism of the era and were slanted against the Chickasaw Nation’s interests because they favored replacing the Indian nations with statehood. While statehood wasn’t the top goal of papers outside Indian Territory, they often reproduced or adapted related reports from territorial papers. In doing so, some readers saw adventurous entrepreneurs, while others saw intruders. Whatever the interpretation, to readers in Chicago and Dallas, these reports from Indian Territory must have seemed as exotic as news from overseas.

Still, examining the articles can be informative, as well as entertaining. The content of some confirms government correspondence between tribal and government officials. Others provide useful leads for historians and genealogists.

Occasionally, little chestnuts of history appear. For example, before the text of Governor Robert M. Harris’s 1897 message to the Legislature is reproduced in the DMN, it is noted that the address was translated into English by Holmes Colbert. I had done a fair amount of research on Harris and his era, and this was the first evidence I had seen suggesting that Harris, one-eighth Chickasaw and certainly not an identifiable Indian in photos, was a fluent Chickasaw speaker.

The Newspapers
Lake Superior News, May 15,

1879. “Indian Territory now contains 68,000 square miles. The population in 1870 is given as 68,152; 2,407 were whites; 6,378 colored and 59,367 Indians. The Cherokees, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and other tribes have schools and churches and the habits of civilized life. The policy of the [federal] government is to move all Indian tribes to reservations in this territory which may in time become a state.

It contains much fertile soil ... white squatters want it, and therefore railroad companies want to run through it and make fortunes by government appropriation of lands.”

Note: The previous observations, in a nutshell, proved to be remarkably prophetic; as it turns out, the history between 1879 and 1907 was a matter of filling in the details.

Wheeling (WV) Register, March 2, 1883. “The Interior Department [Secretary Kirkwood] instructed the Indian Agent in Muskogee to enforce the ‘Choctaw and Chickasaw permit laws’ by giving ‘all parties’ 30 days to comply. [Non-citizens had to pay an annual fee to live and do business in the Nation.] Otherwise, he was directed to remove non-compliant persons from ‘Indian country, using for this purpose such police force as he has at his disposal’ or if insufficient, ‘report that fact to the department in which event the assistance of the military will be invoked.’ Under the laws and treaties, the duty and power of the removal of intruders resides in the Department of Interior and not with the Indians. [emphasis added] You will be expected to enforce the law vigorously yet humanely.”

Daily Inter Ocean (Chicago), April 15, 1887. “Cattle owners in Texas requested the Secretary of Interior to establish a new cattle trail through the Chickasaw Nation. They had complained against the Nation levying a tax of 15 cents per head passing through their territory to market and requested a means whereby they may be relieved from payment. The Chickasaw Governor [unnamed, but it was William Guy] disclaims any purpose to regulate commerce, but the Nation does regulate the price of our grass which is a valuable property. There is no hindrance, tax or otherwise, to driving cattle on the regularly published cattle trail in the western part of the tribe’s domain, he notes.”

Note: The next two articles are examples of innumerable kinds that feature interesting information or provocations that practically shout for follow-up, but unfortunately, none can be found.

Kansas City Star, July 26, 1888. “Governor Guy of the Chickasaw Nation telegraphed to the President yesterday for aid in expelling the cowboys and Captain Thomas of the Fifth Cavalry has been ordered to the scene of the troubles.”

DMN, November 12, 1890. [Concerning a council meeting of Choctaws at Tushka Humma at which was present a commission of Chickasaws, including Judge Overton Love, ex-Gov. Burney, and Hon. R. Harris] “It was unofficially learned from the Chickasaw delegation that the Chickasaws desire a complete separation from the Choctaws, even to the division of lands. The two tribes have been hitherto firmly allied, speaking the same language and holding all their property in common with the exception of certain funds. The Choctaws are inclined to advocate a confederation of the five civilized tribes and agreeing upon concert of action in all things.”

DMN, April 30, 1891. “The order of ejectment [sic] from the interior department of intruders from the Chickasaw nation refers only to about 6000 non-citizens who have been reported to the Indian government as having positively refused to pay the occupation fee of $5 levied by the Chickasaw government. ... To gain this much desired end [statehood], we must make a friend of the Indian, and not antagonize his interests or appropriate to our own use that which the laws of our country say belong to him.”

“The 30,000 non-citizens in the Chickasaw nation who are obeying the laws and prospering realize the fact that they are peacefully pursuing the various avocations of life under the most lenient laws and in one of the richest and most productive countries in the world. Within the past three years, villages have become towns, church spires point heavenward, schoolhouses dot the hills, mammoth mineral mines are being operated. To the influx of honest people in harmony with the Indian ... can we alone look for a solution of the Indian question and secure final allotment and statehood."

DMN, September 18, 1991. "The news correspondent has just returned from Tishomingo, where the Chickasaw council is in session. Details were impossible to obtain as they would not allow a journalist a seat in the hall. Permission [for reporters] to sit in was voted down 16 to 4. They said newspapermen would print lies about them. [The reporter continues his report, possibly in retaliation.] They have transacted no business except to organize, though they have been in session nearly two weeks. They meet and adjourn, then they go to their camps at the edge of town. All are on the [Gov. William] Byrd ticket and are so hostile toward the white man that they are likely to repeal the permit law [allowing whites to reside in the Nation]. When a reporter approaches them with a question they turn away from him. Gov. Byrd is at his home at Stonewall. The council will not pass a bill he does not approve of."

DMN, June 28, 1892. "The great question in this territory is the allotment of the land in severalty among Indian citizens. While the mixed bloods and squaw men [intermarried males] nearly all oppose every movement in this direction, the full blood are gradually becoming favorable. The old-time Indian of the school books [presumably full bloods] is rapidly becoming a being of the past. As the late James Harris Sug, the Chickasaw poet, expresses it:

'Full many a thrilling story
Could the echoing hills repeat.

But now the bow and aquiver
Give Place to the plodding plow,

A Bible, a hut, a handful of corn
And a christian's broken vow.'

"As the matter stands now, the squaw men and mixed bloods control the great bulk of the lands in the territory, while the full bloods derive no benefit from the rental incomes whatsoever. Many of these Indian landlords have tracts of the best farming lands under fence, varying from 1000 to 3000 acres. These they rent to thrifty white men, usually for one third of the grain crops raised and one fourth of the cotton. Three years ago the squaw men were disfranchised [under Gov. Byrd's administration], but they have all the other rights of Indian citizens.

[The gubernatorial election is next spring.] "Three candidates are in the field. Judge Robt. L. Boyd of Ardmore, who is a half Chickasaw on his mother's side, Robert M. Harris of Tishomingo, a mixed blood and Hon. Jonas Wolf, a full blood also of Tishomingo. [The candidates] have no clearly defined platforms or party principles. But Judge Boyd, if elected, will advocate the re-enfranchisement of the whites. The other two candidates claim to be upon what is known as 'the full blood platform,' which opposes [land] allotment. The truth is each man is running on his own merits and personal popularity." [Jonas Wolf won.]

"These Indian governments all lack the discipline and organization that our state governments have. A large proportion of the office-seekers and office-holders seem to be in the swim for revenue only; and they seem to have a picnic of it. [The white] inhabitants of the towns are courteous, hospitable and enterprising in their private business, but lack ownership ... which greatly lessens their interest in the public welfare. Whenever the general allotment of Indian lands is made, a different state of things will be inaugurated here. Better and more permanent houses will be built and the same spirit which inspires public enterprises and sanitary regulations in other cities will then be developed here. Allotment and final statehood are matters of only a few years time."

Cherokee Advocate (Tahlequah), September 28, 1892. "The Indian Territory is the one organization in the country that does not want to become a State,' says Hogan Keel, of the Chickasaw Nation who is in the city. [Washington, D.C.] 'We have our farms and herds of cattle, our homes and schools and are well satisfied with the present system. The public schools are well advanced and well attended. If we should become a State we could not own the lands in common as we do now, and that system is the life of the cattle raising business. The present government is well suited to the needs of the Territory, and we want no change.'"

DMN, September 9, 1893. [In 1893, Congress created the Dawes Commission to negotiate allotment agreements with the Chickasaws and other tribes of Indian Territory. They contacted Chickasaw officials in Tishomingo, but just before they arrived, the Chickasaws held elections.] "Tecumseh McClure of Pauls Valley was elected speaker of the house and Nelson Chigley of Davis president of the senate. [Others] were appointed to the finance and school committees and M.V. Cheadle was elected draughtsman.

"In regard to moving the capital from Tishomingo, The News correspondent is reliably informed that such a thing will not be done. The full bloods who are in the majority, bitterly opposing such a move, although Nelson Chigley is working like a beaver to have it removed to Davis."

"Political deals are already being made for the next election in 1894. P.S. Mosely of Wapanucka and Doc Johnson are being mentioned as probable candidates for governor. [Mosely was elected governor.] The report of the national treasurer shows that the Chickasaw nation, which was $69,000 in debt when Gov. Wolfe [sic] took his seat, is now out of debt with a balance of $750 in its treasury.

DMN, September 17, 1893. "Nelson Chigley, president of the Chickasaw senate, sent word yesterday that the Chickasaw government would remove the capital from Tishomingo to Davis. [Chigley lived in Davis.]"

Note: The split over the location of the capital [which, as we know, remained in Tishomingo] mirrored the general division between the full bloods who favored ignoring the Dawes Commission and the mixed bloods who wanted to negotiate to obtain the most favorable terms regarding the disposition of the tribe's domain.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Editor:

I'm writing to express my gratitude to the Times for printing in the February issue the article concerning the Employee Service Awards.

To be named as the Chickasaw Nation's 2008 Employee of the Year, along with the wonderful Joanna Hawkins, is truly an awesome and very proud moment for me. And to receive my plaque from two gentlemen – Governor Anoatubby and Lt. Governor Keel – whom I admire greatly made it all the more special.

I know there are countless employees who could have easily been awarded this honor so I share this with all of them.

But I especially share this honor with my co-workers in the Division of Housing and Tribal Development. I am truly blessed to be among such quality people every single day. Of special note are my co-workers in the Department of Administrative Services – Tammy Brown, Ron Frazier, Kimbrey Gaines, Kathie Johnson and Larry Smith.

Furthermore, let me publicly acknowledge my sincere thankfulness to my director Renee Sweet and my administrator Wayne Scribner. Frankly, it is very easy to do the things that I do when I have such outstanding examples of stewardship to our mission statement – 'to enhance the overall quality of life of Chickasaw people.'

I am grateful to be an employee of the tribe. I am honored to be the Employee of the Year. And I am so very proud to be Chickasaw.

Sincerely and respectfully,
Michael L. Wingo

Dear Editor:

The use of the racist word "Injun" has of late been repeated more and more in on-line talk forums, and rears its ugly head in what some white people in this part of Mississippi, call polite conversation. To me and others of Native American heritage find it a repugnant and bigoted word, just as the "N" word is hateful to African Americans. To end this, I'm trying to get a grassroots movement started to ask the United States Congress to declare the use of "Injun" a hate crime.

Please do an article on this subject, and please send it out to other Native American Newspapers.

Sincerely,
E. Delano (Ed) Christian

Dear Editor:

We have experienced ongoing problems with trespassing on my grandmother's Chickasaw allotment northwest of Allen, Okla.

The McCall, Yoakum and Kimbrough property is on the South Canadian River. It is posted "no trespassing," but trespassing still occurs.

Oil companies, utility companies and government officials can contact me at (580) 436-0462 or (580) 272-8251 for a permission letter to enter the property.

The Pontotoc County Sheriff has agreed with rural landowners to enforce trespassing laws.

We would like this allotment land protected for future generations, and we appreciate others respecting our wishes.

Thank you.

General Resolution Number 26-024

Approval of Development Budget Amendment

Ardmore Clinic Renovation and Carter Seminary Dormitory Demolition

Explanation: The Ardmore Health Clinic was built in 1988 and is in dire need of renovation for better efficiency of the space. The clinic incurs 37,000-38,000 patient visits per year and has consistently for the past six years. The Ardmore Clinic is in need of updating and remodeling for better functionality.

The Scope of Work includes renovation of the current clinic to allow the addition of three new exam rooms providing a total of four exam rooms at the clinic. This will be accomplished by moving the existing pharmacy to a different area of the clinic which will also allow a drive thru to be added. The current registration area does not allow view of the waiting area or patients entering the clinic. The renovations will allow this area to be turned to face the front of the clinic. The estimate also includes adding walls to two offices to make four, moving the employee break room, resizing the medical records department, building cabinetry for the nurse's station, a storage room for the lab, drywall repair, new flooring, adding an additional heat and air unit, modular furniture and some electrical work. The proposed changes will not increase the total square footage of the current clinic, but provide for better utilization of the space.

The Carter Seminary dormitory building is an old and dilapidated structure on the grounds of the Chickasaw Nation's campus in Ardmore. The campus currently contains a Senior Center, a Wellness Center, a Health Center and a Nutrition Center.

The Chickasaw Nation holds it's elders in the highest esteem. In pursuing the mission to enhance the overall quality of life for Chickasaw people, the Chickasaw Nation continues to provide facilities and services for the benefit of its citizens. The dormitory is not a useable facility in its current condition and it is not feasible to bring it up to an acceptable standard. By demolishing the structure, the campus will have ample space for the construction of future elder care housing units. The elder care housing units will be in close proximity to the facilities which provide benefits and services to our elders.

This resolution approves the amendment to the Development Budget for the Ardmore Clinic Renovation, Project Number CNHS-002 in the amount of $343,200.00, and for the Carter Seminary Dormitory Demolition, Project Number 20-0082-09 in the amount of $290,250.00.

She was a well-rounded student and participated in several high school activities. She was active in the International Order of Rainbow for girls, having a stepfather, grandfather, great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather who were members of the Masonic and Shriner organizations. She served as Worthy Advisor for both the Yukon and Washington Assemblies. She was a Grand Recorder for the state of Oklahoma and her highest honor was serving as Personal Representative to Ben Clark, Oklahoma State Rainbow Dad.

After high school she attended Southeastern University in Durant, Del Mar College in Corpus Christi, Texas, and the University of Oklahoma, Norman. At one point she was a radio disc jockey and co-hosted some Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy telethons on a Corpus Christi television affiliate.

Her hobby was drama and she performed in several plays at the Mummies Theater in Oklahoma City, plays at El Reno's Community Theater group and reenactments at Frontier City Amusement Park.

She was a direct descendant of James Logan Colbert and Thomas Love, with many forebears who served the Chickasaw tribe with pride and distinction. Her great-great-grandfather, Frank Walter Goldsby, donated land from his Chickasaw allotment for the town of Goldsby and her great-great-grandmother, Daisy Turner, donated land from her Chickasaw allotment for the town of Washington.

Mr. Kusler is survived by his wife, Sisteline Kusler, step children, Randy Tate and his wife, Carla and their children Kyle, Kyla and Josh, Cheree Lindamood and her two children, Zakk and Lexus Davis and Gregory Tate and his son, River Tate. He loved and raised these children and grand-children as his own and they loved him deeply.

Many friends also valued his investment in their lives and the lives of their children.

Mr. Kusler grew up on a farm on the banks of the Boggy River and his favorite activities were to hunt and fish. His chores included working in his mother's huge vegetable garden. He always loved to plant a big garden, watch it grow and share the harvest with friends. He was considered an expert and many came to him for advice. He especially enjoyed fishing on the Washita River and many have commented he was the best river fisherman they have ever known. He enjoyed sharing the fish he caught at fish fries in the summer. He was a caring, generous and compassionate man who was always available to help other people.

He moved to Madill in 1958 and lived there for 50 years. He entered the service station business and continued the business until he closed the last full-service station in Madill in 1995. He operated the Tire Barn until 1998. In 1990 he was elected County Commissioner of District #1 in Marshall County and he continued in that position until his retirement in 2006. He enjoyed helping people and believed it was a special privilege to serve the citizens of Marshall County.

His family will always cherish the memories of him and the gift of unconditional love and encouragement he gave us. He worked hard to provide for his family and we are grateful for his sacrifice and example of a strong work ethic. In addition to a life well lived, we are thankful that he confessed Jesus as his Savior and we are comforted by the knowledge that he is free from suffering and in the presence of the Lord. We appreciate the wonderful friends in Marshall County and elsewhere that have been such a blessing and encouragement to him throughout the years, especially in these last few months of illness. Clayton, Bro. Charley Cabaniss, Calvary Church and Clark's Funeral Home for the wonderful tribute to Mike.

We would also like to thank the multitude of friends who expressed their love for Mike by giving of their generous gifts of food, flowers and other donations and especially for your prayers. I know Mike would appreciate they overwhelming show of love and support as much as we do. Mike was a strong Christian man who had a deep faith in the Lord. We know we will see him again someday in Heaven. Until we do, it is comforting to have the love and support of our friends.
